DETAILED ACTION

1. This is the First Office Action on the Merits from the examiner in charge of this application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 3-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 3, since on line 2, the claim recited "at least one pedestal component" which means "one pedestal component", the recitation "each of the pedestal components" lacks antecedent basis, thus indefinite. Claim 5, since on line 8, the claim recited "at least one storage set" which means "one storage set", the recitation of "each storage set" implies there is more than one storage set, thus renders the claim indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1, 3, 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US

Ferraro et al discloses a pedestal assembly comprising all the elements recited in the above listed claims including, such as shown in Figs 4-7, a plurality of pedestal, each having a supporting portion, two side walls, an opening defined by the supporting portion and the side walls, four notching portions 96-99, four protruding portions 86-89 corresponding to said four notches and respectively disposed on bottoms of the two side walls, at least one storage set, such as shown in Fig 7, having two opposite supports each having two holes formed at two ends of a top thereof and mating with the corresponding two protruding portions of the pedestal component, a track portion 35 arranged on an inner side thereof, two bulges downwardly extending from two ends of a bottom thereof, and a container, such as shown in Fig 1, having two mating tracks formed on two sides thereof and respectively slidably mating with the two track portions of the two supports, wherein the container has a dent formed on a front side acting as a handle.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.

Art Unit: 3637

4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.
8. Claims 2, and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferraro et al.

Ferraro et al discloses all the elements as discussed above except for clearly disclose the pedestal component being made from different color plastics. However, it would have been obvious and well within the level of one skill in the art to have the pedestal component of Ferraro et al being made from different color plastics in order to provide aesthetic looking pedestal component.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Chen, Schenker, Li, Liu, Jacobson et al, Piontek, Steinhilber, Wong, Yale, Reznikov et al, Garcia, and Rougier all show structures similar to various elements of applicant's disclosure.
